What's a Good Password?

Passwords are important! They protect your information. The best, strongest passwords are like a secret key:

They should be at least 8 characters long:

_____

Use symbols, numbers, and spaces

Use big and small letters

Don't use personal information, like your birthday, name, or pet's name

Don't use a word from the dictionary, like "summer" or "baseball"

Don't share your passwords with friends. Only parents should know your password when you're a kid

Use different passwords for each site, and update them every 3 months

Don't write them down!

WHAT DO YOU THINK?

Johnny is trying to pick a new password. Which password should he choose? Match the good passwords to the 😊, and the bad passwords to the ☹️.

Baseball

Aa68?12Qrt!

Johnny2012

!<3guDp42sW3rdz!

Answer: A random password like Aa68?12Qrt! is strong, but hard to remember. Try a phrase you'll remember, but change it with numbers and symbols. It's like your own secret code that only you will know! Can you tell that last one is "I love good passwords"?

TRY IT OUT

Help Julie make a strong password (but don't share your own password!)

USE STRONG PASSWORDS

A strong password is hard for someone to guess

Look Out for Tricks!

Bad people want to steal your information or break your phone or computer with a virus. Look out for these tricks:

Beware of "free" – free downloads, apps, games and quizzes can hide viruses. Viruses can break your device or steal your information. Always check with your parents before downloading.

Beware of "phishing" – bad people send fake texts, emails, or pop-up messages to trick people into sharing their information, clicking a bad link, or downloading an attachment with a virus.
